OUR IMPACT OUR LEGACY

★ | Our impact, Our Legacy

Sustainability is at the heart of our business. Since 1852 we have been passionate about leaving a positive social, environmental and economic legacy. Being sustainable helps us protect our own future against resource scarcity. It enables us to attract and retain good people. It means we can create whole life value for our customers and partners, and for the users of the buildings we construct.

Our purpose goes beyond profit. Creating value for our communities is something we passionately believe in, and we strive to constantly find new ways to improve social mobility in communities local to our projects and contracts.

As a privately-owned company, being a positive force to deliver social cohesion and provide lifelong opportunities for people is important for Willmott Dixon, especially for myself as the fifth generation to lead the company. I am proud of the difference we make through the fantastic efforts of our people.

Rick Willmott | Group Chief Executive

📊 | Project Brief

The new buildings have been designed to reflect Swindon's unique heritage and efforts have been made to incorporate the town's railway history into the designs. The grid formation of the apartments, for example, is based on the widths of the former engine sheds used to house, repair and maintain trains.

Triple glazed windows, MVHR ventilation and photo voltaic panels on the roofs reduce energy consumption, providing modern, efficient and affordable housing for Swindon residents.
